

$650,000.00 SETTLEMENT SECURED ON APRIL 23, 2026 FOR A CONSTRUCTION WORKER WITH A SIGNIFICANT HAND INJURY

The case involved a severe hand injury suffered by a 50-year-old mason. He suffered the injury when his hand got caught in a cement mixer machine when he attempted to remove some debris residue located inside the cement mixer.

He was initially hospitalized at a hospital in Boston where he underwent extensive treatment, including surgery. Unfortunately, he developed complex pain syndrome as a result of this injury. He remains under the care of a pain management physician. Prognosis looks guarded.